

TY COBB HEADS AMERICAN LEAGUE

Detroit Outfielder Hit at .410 in Past Season—Jackson Second With .395—Athletics Lead League in Team Batting.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Batting honors of the American league belong again to Ty Cobb of the Detroit club for the sixth successive year. Official averages for the 1912 season issued tonight by President Johnson show Cobb as leader with .410. Joe Jackson was Cobb's closest rival. The Cleveland outfielder finished with an average of .395, while Speaker of Boston is third with .383. Thirty players batted into the select .300 class.

In 140 games Cobb made 227 hits for a total of 324 bases. He made 30 two-base hits, 11 triples and 7 home runs. Frank Baker of the Philadelphia club was the premier home run hitter of the year, having ten to his credit.

Although noted for his speed on the bases, Cobb was out-rivaled by Milan of Washington in stolen bases. Milan stole 38, while Cobb stole 31.

Sadie Collins of Philadelphia also finished ahead of Cobb, having 62 stolen bases to his credit.

In team batting Philadelphia led the league, with Boston a close second. Philadelphia, who led in threebatters with 103, was second in home runs with 22. Boston scored the most home runs, 28, and made the most doubles, 26.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET FAIRLY ACTIVE.

Closing Was Heavy. Confidence Changing to Apprehension.

New York, Nov. 10.—All speculation to the contrary, the local stock market is very sensitive to the foreign situation, and any European selling of American securities such as was exhibited yesterday finds the professional investors ready to change position and allow prices to sag. If not decline sharply. The cheerfulness of the early part of the week, exhibited in the cables from London and the continent was offset yesterday by an equally cheerful prospect regarding the Russian settlement, and the period following during the entire session yesterday with little variation was weak, and prices sold off rapidly. Considering the half day's action, the market was fairly active, a total of $8,500,000 shares being traded in during the two hours. The closing was heavy and the traders were changed to apprehension, and the bears held full sway as the final quotations showed lower ranges than the previous day. The local market was not more than three points. Such exhibitions of strength as were manifested were of minor importance, and the market could not be characterized as irregular in its movements. The local conditions offered no valid excuse for a bear movement on the contrary, the news of the day from commercial and industrial centers was very favorable. The report of the United States Steel corporation's increase in income to untold millions of 1,042,874, the largest in its history, or a total of 1,184,351 tons. The local money market did not exhibit any unusual strain, and the bank statement displayed a comparatively favorable movement. Commercial agency reports during the day in an individual sense the stock market should have absorbed some incentive to a betterment. But its action ignored the home assistance and demonstrated its professional character as an other day.

STIFF PRACTICE AHEAD

FOR PRINCETON ELEVEN

Tigers Preparing for Battle With Yale on Saturday—Students Displeased with Recent Showing.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 10.—Head Coach Cunningham said here tonight that the Princeton football team will go through a stiff week of work in order to put on final touches for the game with Yale on Saturday. Scrimmages will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, but on the last two days the work will probably be confined to signal and formation drills. For Princeton supporters were not particularly pleased with the showing of the eleven yesterday in the game with Harvard. Cunningham said that a much larger score should have been rolled up against the New York-York team, which was perceived to be in the second half after presenting a strong attack in the initial period, a fault which cost them dear in the game with Harvard.

Contrary to the custom of former years, the team will not leave town for a couple of days before the game. When it became known that Princeton football might see the Yale-Princeton football game, the demand for tickets rose beyond all previous records, but George A. Murray, athletic treasurer, announced tonight that the president-elect had not applied for tickets and would leave for his vacation before the game takes place.

BROWN OUTPLAYED YALE.

But Blue Won, 10 to 0—Flynn's 40-Yard Run Means of Only Touchdown.

New Haven, Nov. 10.—Opportunity, but opportunity of Yale's own making, twice knocked at the door of the blue in her game against Brown Saturday and each time Yale stood on the threshold ready and able. Throughout the remainder of the game Yale was distinctly outplayed or at the best merely held her own. The triumph was Yale's by 10 to 0.

The blue's first score was the reward of a chain of nine plays, three of which were within Brown's 1-yard line. After trying in vain to start Brown's end from a fake kick formation, Flynn, in the middle of the third quarter, finally rounded his own right end for a run of forty yards, placing the ball on Brown's 15 yard line, from which eight line plays against a magnificent defense at last carried the ball over the line for a touchdown, from which the goal was kicked.

The blue's second score came later as the result of a successful forward pass of 25 yards, which placed the ball on Brown's 20 yard line, from which a sledgehammer attack, right and left, came to naught on Brown's 10 yard line, but which forced Pompey to try a drop for goal from the 25 yard line. Pompey successfully made the distance and scored the goal.

Only a few plays were necessary to disclose that Yale proposed to win the game, if possible, without showing any range of play. Evidently the regular playing season next year, the chairman of the National Baseball commission is discussing the idea of having the American and National leagues play a regular season of 112 games. After that each club to take part in eight games in the club in the regular season. For instance, the Giants would take on the eight teams in the National league in turn.

A number of magazines already approve this plan, which was first introduced by Mr. Herrman last year, but when the National league refused to consider it seriously. The National commission chairman intends to again bring his idea before the magnates at their forthcoming meeting.

President Dreyfus of the Pittsburgh club openly indorses the scheme. President Lynch of the St. Louis club, informally, but refuses to express an opinion. The St. Louis club, however, the head of the plan and thinks it has merit. Charles Ebbets of the Brooklyn club also lends a willing ear to the scheme.

The Herrman plan, if put into effect, will do away with the present world's series. As the big games are played only two clubs are benefited financially, while fourteen other clubs are forced into bankruptcy, though the owners of them are compelled to pay the players' salaries until October 15.

MANY FAVOR PROPOSED

INTERLEAGUE SERIES.

President Dreyfus Openly Endorses Herrman's Plan For 64 Game Schedule.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 8.—If the suggestion of Garry Herrman is carried out the two big baseball leagues will play a regular season of sixty-four games, after which the regular playing season next year, the chairman of the National Baseball commission is discussing the idea of having the American and National leagues play a regular season of 112 games. After that each club to take part in eight games in the club in the regular season. For instance, the Giants would take on the eight teams in the National league in turn.

INDIANS 27, ARMY 6.

Carlisle Team Entirely Outclassed Plucky Cadet Eleven.

West Point, Nov. 10.—Desperate, frustrated, bewildered in their attempts to stem the tremendously potent attack of the enemy of tradition, the young men who are one day to lead our armies were scattered about the plains today like reeds in the whirl of a cyclone and buried on the grid.

At first the cadets stood up nobly to their task and battled for every inch of ground with superb courage, for it was little else that enabled them to stem the savage assaults of a team that many thought the best that has been seen on the eastern football field this year, but soon their columns were broken under the flying phalanx headed by Jim Thorpe. The whirlwind of the Carlisle team was so effective that the army was completely routed and the aborigines galloped up and down the field, adding to the measure as the moments dragged on. Finally, when the heavy billows of dark gray clouds had screened out all but the slightest gleam of daylight, the rout was complete and the proud standards of the army dropped beneath the worst defeat that has come to the gray and gold in many a long day.

Harvard 9, Vanderbilt 3.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 10.—Harvard sent the Vanderbilt football team back to the Southland Saturday with a 9 to 3 defeat, but the Commodore left behind a reputation for speed and versatility in attack and stubbornness in defense that will be remembered.

Using a team made up of a number of substitutes, Harvard scored a touchdown and a field goal in the second half, and the Commodore's defense, which had been so effective in the first period to get within drop kicking distance of Harvard's goal, fell apart and the ball over for three points.

Joe Tinker to Manage Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Nov. 10.—Agnes Tinker, president of the Cincinnati club of the National league, announced tonight that Joseph Tinker of the Chicago club would be the 1913 manager of the Cincinnati club. Mr. Herrman said he had communicated tonight with Charles Murphy, owner of the Chicago club and that the deal by which Tinker would come to Cincinnati would be completed tomorrow or Tuesday. He said that the deal by which Tinker would come to Cincinnati would be considered, except to say that neither Bescher, Marsan nor Hoblitzell would be traded.
